THIS WEEK IN JERUSALEM

Peggy Cidor's round-up of city affairs

New look for an old facility

The Jerusalem Foundation is inaugurating this week the renovations done to the retirement home at Beit Boyer. The refurbishment is thanks to a special grant of NIS 5 million and fulfills the requirements of a modern home according to Health Ministry standards. Some 35 elderly residents will now enjoy spacious, climate-controlled and fully furnished rooms, including TVs and acoustic ceilings. The rooms, which are accessible to the disabled, are shared by a maximum of two people.
