From the President

Dear Friends,

The Jerusalem Foundation is proud of our 40 years of accomplishments on behalf of Jerusalem and all its residents. In every neighborhood of the city, one encounters landmarks of our long journey and the effort to promote a free, pluralistic, modern and tolerant Jerusalem.

We are happy to share with you the Jerusalem Foundation's Annual Report for 2006, another successful year in which we raised a total of $30.5 million in pledges and grants. This brings the total of all donations received by the Foundation in Jerusalem since its establishment to $691 million (about $1.1 billion if adjusted for inflation). The Foundation's total assets increased over the past year from $115.3 million at the end of 2005 to $123.5 million at the end of 2006. The Foundation's allocations for the purpose of initiating, developing and operating projects in 2006 totaled nearly $28 million, of which just over 50% funded programs and the balance funded physical projects and preservation.

In the course of 2006 the Jerusalem Foundation began a comprehensive process to help shape our strategic plan, looking ahead to the next 40 years of activities and reaffirming our commitment on all levels to strengthening community, culture and coexistence in the city.

The Jerusalem Foundation's ongoing contribution to all aspects of life in the city is only possible because of the loyalty and support of friends worldwide and the cooperation of various organizations and bodies, and their directors and staff. The Foundation is encouraged in its work by our board members in Israel and abroad, whose active personal involvement is imbued with love and devotion.

In the past 40 years, Jerusalem has flourished from a sleepy, small border town to a vibrant metropolis. The Jerusalem Foundation has remained steadfast as the single most influential foundation dedicated solely to Jerusalem and harnessing the strengths of its communities, heritage, beauty and culture to build a better tomorrow, and our work continues.

Thank you for your partnership.

Sincerely yours,

Ruth Cheshin International President

The Jerusalem Foundation

Jerusalem is a city revered and cherished around the world. It is the heart of the Jewish people - the eternal capital. The Jerusalem Foundation, understanding the importance of Jerusalem as a city central to so many, over the last 40 years pioneered much of the archaeological discovery and preservation of the history of the city through the City of David excavations, the preservation and reconstruction of the major gates of the Old City walls, the Tower of David Museum and much more.

Jerusalem would be unrecognizable without the Jerusalem Foundation, without its community centers, sports complexes, parks, children's playgrounds, libraries, theaters and museums. Without its arts schools and central science labs, with fewer daycares and homes for the elderly, with poorer school facilities and less educational innovation. Without so many of the building blocks that are essential for creating a civil and humane society. Someone, somewhere, benefits from a Jerusalem Foundation project every minute of every day and every night. The Foundation's work touches every population — Jewish, Muslim and Christian — of every social group of every age, in every neighborhood of the city.

Over 40 years the Jerusalem Foundation has become the city's preeminent leader of civil society. The Foundation has a huge passion and expertise in all aspects of life in Jerusalem. It has an unmatched track record in creating and nurturing philanthropy supported enterprises in Jerusalem. The Jerusalem Foundation links the international community to Jerusalem and together we aspire to make Jerusalem an inspiring capital, modern center and global city.

OUR VISION

To support the growth of a vibrant, modern, flourishing city, rich with culture, economic vitality and strong and caring communities for all its residents.

OUR MISSION

The Jerusalem Foundation continues its mission in Jerusalem. We advance a platform and a developed agenda around three programs:

- Community Building and Economic Vitality
- Coexistence Living Together
- Cultural Life and Creativity

OUR VALUES

The Jerusalem Foundation is the only organization in Jerusalem that has a comprehensive understanding of all aspects of the city, has strong and lasting relationships with all authorities and organizations that play a major role in Jerusalem and has a record of 40 years of successful partnerships with Jerusalem communities and friends abroad.

- ► The Foundation acts as an impartial arbitrator and objective broker in Jerusalem for the competing interests of the various government departments, non-governmental agencies, other charities and local community volunteers.
- ► The Jerusalem Foundation provides full accountability and open reporting to its donors by maintaining ongoing contact with and supervision of all its projects in Jerusalem.
- ► The Jerusalem Foundation provides all services in-house through its overseas department, projects department, accounting and technical departments, legal department and more.
- ► The Foundation holds regular meetings and seminars with policy makers, experts and academics on the changing needs in Jerusalem to consistently reassess projects and issues in need of attention.
- The Jerusalem Foundation's "designated donation" method, which pairs potential donors with projects in areas of their interest, encourages the donor's ongoing personal involvement with the project and the community.
- ► The Foundation builds a partnership between the donor and Jerusalem residents and creates a long-term relationship that can often last for generations.

CULTURE

Culture in Jerusalem

For 40 years the Jerusalem Foundation has been pursuing its strong belief that cultural activity reflects and gives expression to the intense spirituality, diversity, and uniqueness of Jerusalem. Culture enriches the lives of residents and a strong cultural identity lifts the spirits, it enlivens the city, strengthens social solidarity and expands the economy. In the varied cultural mosaic of Jerusalem, each community makes their own special cultural contribution to the multicultural fabric of the society. Making each of these groups strong through culture and then connecting them together, ultimately strengthens the whole community of Jerusalem with a rich tapestry of culture.

In order to perpetuate the cultural diversity and traditions of Jerusalem, the Jerusalem Foundation seeks to:

- Deepen institutions' involvement in the community
- Develop new audiences and new genres through community outreach
- Foster artistic excellence in existing cultural institutions
- Strengthen the use of the arts as a means for inter-cultural understanding
- Encourage and develop creativity in Jerusalem

Challenges	Responses
Diverse and heterogeneous populations with varying and widely different cultural identities	Community outreach through a multicultural approach, strengthening the intercultural ties within Jerusalem's cultural mosaic
Cultural institutions facing decreasing government support	Support of the cultural infrastructure through encouragement of innovative new productions and exhibitions
Negative image of the city among residents and non-residents – ancient city representing conflict and history	Culture as a vehicle to present a positive image and revitalize the city – bringing it alive and making it a place where young people will want to stay
Few opportunities for young artists	Cultivating New Creativity – fostering young artists and creating opportunities for the future

Mishkenot Sha'ananim

Activities and Events 2006

Heinrich Heine

On the occasion of the 150th anniversary of the death of Heinrich Heine, Mishkenot Sha'ananim held an evening in his memory and in honor of the inauguration of the book "Heinrich Heine in Jerusalem," published by Hoffmann & Campe.

Contemporary Islam:

Variety and Unity, Consensus and Internal Conflict
A Conference to Commemorate the Publication of
The Clash within Islam by Emmanuel Sivan

Bereavement, Grieving and the Soul

Loss, grief and bereavement have become inseparable from the Israeli experience. On April 30, 2006, the International Dialogue Centre held a seminar studying different aspects of loss and bereavement. This seminar was held just prior to Israel's Remembrance Day.

Lecture series and readings of poetry and prose are regular features of Mishkenot's literary programs:

Behind the Scenes of the Art World

Renewed public interest has followed the great upheavals of the world of art and archeology in recent years, in Israel as well as abroad. Renowned chief conservator and curator at the Tel Aviv Museum of Art, Dr. Doron Lurie, lectured on the stories behind some of the most famous works of art, forgery and deception in the art world, and revealed yet untold stories.

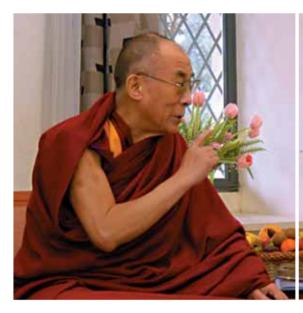

A Page from a Book

Michael Handelsaltz, the legendary editor of the Ha'aretz daily literary supplement, leads discussions with authors, editors and translators on recently published books in an intimate setting.

Fantasy Writing Workshop

Following the success of the 2005 workshop, Mishkenot continued its Fantasy Writing Seminar with another 12 bi-weekly sessions under the expert leadership of author Gail Har Even and Asaf Osheri, formerly an editor with the Opus Publishing Company.

Book Launch - "Suite Francaise" by Irene Nemirovsky in Hebrew

The Seventh International Poetry Festival

In addition to the twelve international poets, the 2006 Festival also featured seventeen poets from across Israel. The artistic directors of this year's festival were poet Agi Mishol and Ariel Hirschfeld, The Department of Hebrew Literature, and The Hebrew University of Jerusalem. The focus of the festival was the presence of poetry from ancient times in the modern world as well as the link between music and poetry; therefore, the participants worked in close cooperation with the Jerusalem Music Centre, which prepared a special program to be held every evening during the festival.

Concert Series

Following the successful series of summer concerts taking place opposite the Old City Walls, Mishkenot held a series of 12 concerts during July and August 2006 on the roof of its building, in cooperation with the Jerusalem Music Centre.

A World-Class Guest - His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama

Mishkenot Sha'ananim's first guest of the year was His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama, Tenzin Gyatso. The Dalai Lama, spiritual leader of millions of Buddhists in the world is a Nobel Peace Prize laureate.

COEXISTENCE

Coexistence in Jerusalem

Agreements made without resolving how residents will get along on a day to day basis will not be longstanding. This crucial and urgent ingredient for peace can only be created by developing a critical mass of grassroots support for mutual understanding and cooperation. Jerusalem is a special case and is unlike any other city in Israel regarding its population breakdown and its significance for the people in this region and around the world. Jerusalem cannot be understood in the same context as the rest of the country and needs a special strategic and social approach to bridging the gap between peoples and preparing for a better future.

The Jerusalem Foundation Creating a Culture of Peace

To facilitate Jewish-Arab coexistence in Jerusalem, the Coexistence Forum developed a four-pronged approach, each addressing a separate challenge to coexistence:

Challenge	Response
Coordinated, professional efforts among existing organizations are needed to be more effective and train leaders	Directing coexistence — CORE programming that coordinates and develops the work of the coexistence forum
Wide diversity of populations — lack of respect and acceptance of the "other"	Education — learning to respect the "other" in formal educational frameworks
Jews and Arabs live side by side but do not mix	From arts to sports — coming together through activities of common interest
Jewish and Arab populations are not on equal footing	East Jerusalem — leveling the playing field in the Arab sector

Coexistence Projects 2006

16 Coexistence Project Managers were trained to engage students in open dialogue and to lead coexistence efforts at the Jerusalem Inter-Cultural Center.

 Over 100 Jewish and Arab youth built a human pyramid to celebrate Hanukah, Id-al-Adha, Christmas, and New Years as part of The Jerusalem Circus dedicated to fostering coexistence through teamwork and the circus arts

683,000 people from all sectors of Jerusalem visited and interacted at the Tisch Family Zoological Gardens.

COMMUNITY

Community in Jerusalem

Teddy Kollek, the founder of the Jerusalem Foundation, was often quoted as saying that creating a state was ultimately far easier than the craft of building a society. Nowhere is this more apparent than in Jerusalem where a great fault line exists between east and west, between the disadvantaged and advantaged, between religions, ethnicities and sectors. The challenges in Jerusalem are enormous but the goal of the Jerusalem Foundation is to invest in the human potential of Jerusalem. The Foundation cannot replace the government but we can make a real difference by cultivating local initiatives. cooperating with each community to identify their own needs and empowering residents. We can help to develop and sustain the ability to successfully integrate into a work environment and provide the tools to initiate change, away from dependence on the system toward creating social solidarity and strengthening community networks. Overcoming all the obstacles, the Jerusalem Foundation is creating a community in Jerusalem.

Community Challenges and Responses

The Jerusalem Foundation believes that there are sustainable tools available to respond to the unique challenges of Jerusalem which will lead to improving the lives of residents.

Challenge

Weak and struggling communities

Communities, groups and individuals that are dependent on the state

Widening socio-economic gaps within the community and between different groups

A fractured and sectored society with groups living on the fringes of community, dealing with alienation and victimization

Response

Creating independence through empowerment, employment

Providing equal opportunities for all members of the community

Strengthening social solidarity - creating community networks

Advancing civil rights
