Dear Friends,

It has been a year of great challenges but also of great hope. I am profoundly grateful for the opportunity I was given on January 1st, 2025, and I have been overwhelmed and deeply moved by the support from friends around the world for the mission of the Jerusalem Foundation and for our efforts. In 2025, we welcomed all of the hostages home and the October 7th war finally ended. We had hoped that we would have more peace in the days and months ahead but today, we know that the challenges continue into 2026.

The people of Jerusalem have been facing a great test amid ongoing stress and anxiety, but what has sustained all of us is the incredible human tapestry of the city. It is very clear that we are all in this together and that no one is going anywhere. This includes all of the Jewish and Muslim and Christian residents of the city and all of the secular, religious ultra-Orthodox and everything in between. We are here together finding ways to help each other, and this has also been inspiring.

The Foundation raised a total of $70,289,957 USD for projects and programs in Jerusalem in 2025. This is our greatest achievement to date, and I believe it is just the beginning.

I wish to express my gratitude to the Jerusalem Foundation leadership and staff, and our professional teams around the world, who have contributed to this significant growth in fundraising. And to our professional team on the ground, led by Jerusalem Foundation General Director, Imry Ben Ami, and the entire management team. We will continue to support the people of Jerusalem and the resilience and strength of the city and to inspire hope for a better future in Jerusalem and the entire region.

This year we are celebrating the 60th Anniversary of the founding of the Jerusalem Foundation in 1966 and we look forward to gathering friends from around the world in Jerusalem to mark this special occasion.

Arik Grebelsky

President

Communal Strength 2025

Resilience Program for Family Members of those Affected by PTSD

In face of acute need for professional support of those affected emotionally and mentally under the extended war, the program focused on boosting wellbeing among groups not recognized by official agencies. The Jerusalem Foundation partnership enabled activities of 4 distinct support groups of family members of people dealing with PTSD throughout 2025: Parents' Group, Partners' Group, Children's Group and Siblings' Group

"In the face of ongoing waves of fighting, immense immediate challenges, and their impact on personal, family, and community resilience, The Jerusalem Foundation stood firmly by our side. The Foundation was more than just a partner on this journey; it was an anchor of support, a beacon of hope, and a driving force that enabled us to extend meaningful assistance to families of trauma survivors who became heroes against their will"

(Adv. Yasmin Nahum, CEO, The Israel Public Health Association)

Arts and Culture 2025

Sidra Tarbut (CulturEvents) - Forty Days of Art and Culture throughout Jerusalem

2025 was the third consecutive year of this outstanding series led by the Jerusalem Foundation with the support of the Jack, Joseph & Morton Mandel Foundation. Events by local Jerusalem artists, hosted by Jerusalem art & culture institutions and attended by diverse communities from all across the city. Extensive dispersion of events throughout the city's neighborhoods, bringing the spark of culture outside of the city center. Over 100 events by 160 artists, drawing 15,000 participants, featuring an eclectic mix of programs, ranging from concerts in community centers to fringe music festivals and contemporary plastic and visual arts productions, boosting the city's cultural ecosystem. Included events for the general public and culturally adapted events for the ultra-Orthodox sector and in East Jerusalem.

"This opportunity to create original work that incorporates local organizations, spaces and artists, and provides the public with moments of inspiration and a chance to catch their breath amid the madness of wartime, is invaluable. Sidra Tarbut leverages the human and physical treasures of Jerusalem, and calls locals to consume local culture, a worthy, admirable cause."
(Studio of Her Own Director Zipi Mizrachi).

Bechorot (First Born/Premiers) Jerusalem Art Students Festival

Jerusalem's (and Israel's) first-of-a-kind student festival, taking the stage for the 2nd time in 2025. Over 4,000 students' study in Jerusalem art colleges and close to 400 fresh graduates enter the workforce each year. The festival connected art-higher-education institutions with Jerusalem's city center and introduced the public to those institutions and the future generation of Jerusalem artists. It included some 300 student creatives from 10 higher-education institutions, drawing 5,000 visitors. Initiated and led by the Jerusalem Foundation in cooperation with the Jerusalem Municipality, with the support of the Jack, Joseph & Morton Mandel Foundation.

Future Leadership 2025

Shai Doron Leadership Fellows Program

Nurturing young dynamic civil society leaders is one of the central pillars of the Jerusalem Foundation. The trailblazing Shai Doron Leadership Fellows Program was launched in mid-2025 as an impactful network championing shared society, diversity and the city's distinct human tapestry in order to empower and be representative of each of the city's communities. In the aftermath of the attacks of October 7th, 2023, we have witnessed how the leadership and initiatives of civil society, particularly young leaders, made all the difference in responding to the city's immediate needs under the crisis. The program was established in memory of former Jerusalem Foundation president, Shai Doron z"l, a visionary leader who saw opportunities when others could see only obstacles. As an avid believer in equal opportunities for all, and in the power of young leadership to impact communities, Shai envisioned this inspirational initiative for continued advancement of future leadership in Jerusalem. The first Cohort was launched in 2025 with 11 Fellows.

"For me, leadership is about seeing something you want to change, truly believing in it, and having a lot of passion. It's about leading and inspiring others to join you from a place that is humble, confident, and participatory."

(Daniella Seltzer, co-founder of Food Rescuers and member of Shai Doron Leadership Fellows – 1st cohort)

SAHI House

SAHI House opened in the Kiryat Yovel neighborhood in April 2025. The project transformed an old building into a renewed space, designed to meet the organization's needs, with spaces for social and volunteer activity, residential quarters for gap year of service volunteers, offices and an outdoor yard.

The center serves as a community hub for youth engaged in values based social action, reflecting the Jerusalem Foundation's commitment to strengthening civil society in Jerusalem and building leadership. The Jerusalem Foundation created a fully renovated and welcoming facility that serves as SAHI's first permanent home and activity center in the city.
